Dear Friends of FANO:

As the CEO of our State's first and only organization serving 52,000 Florida nonprofit organizations, I am excited to announce the publication of our inaugural 2014 Nonprofit Sourcebook. As the voice of the nonprofit sector since our founding in 1990, we have been active in providing Help, Education, Advocacy, Research, Training and over $2 million in Savings to the nonprofits in Florida. With "building capacity of Florida's nonprofit sector" as our mission, we have partnered with Nova Southeastern University and Broward College and since 1995 we have delivered the Florida Certificate in Nonprofit Management classes to over 7,000 community leaders.

The Sourcebook is the first of its kind to enhance knowledge, innovation and creativity and showcase the latest products and services. Our theme "Art as a Communicator" allows FANO to express our long range goal to empower nonprofits to use art as a marketing tool to communicate. We see the significance to use art to market and have lasting effects for positive change, especially for those who are served by nonprofits.

By joining with us as a Sourcebook partner, your voice will be heard with ours, as you become part of this innovative one-stop-shopping business to business experience. Your expertise is needed to help promote new opportunities and capacity building to our Florida communities. And... you and your company will fulfill needs of nonprofit organizations. With our similar focus, together we will contribute to strengthening our community and our leaders.
